SHORT BIOGRAPHY

Visual and performing arts form German artist Lia Sáile's body of work. After graduating from an art-specialised Gymnasium in the Ruhr basin in Germany, 2004, she left Germany, starting Theatre-, Film- and Media studies in Vienna and began to explore photography intensively also attending multimedia classes at the Academy of Fine Arts. In 2005 Sáile started working excessively with analogue instant photography Polaroid, now the foundation of her visual work next to super 8 film. In 2007 she went to Malta, worked on visual and performing art projects and attended classes of history of art next to film and theatre at the Maltese University. She has exhibited at institutions such as the National Museum of Fine Arts Malta, the Polanoir Gallery, Vienna, the Impossible Gallery, New York, various group shows as well as festivals such as Generique(s) Intrinsique(s) in France and was published for example in the C International Photo Magazine (V7+8) which also awarded her with the C ACTION grant in 2008.
